A Method to Measure the Learning Retention of Students Engaged in a Course of Self-Study

Abstract

A method to eliminate the inefficiencies of the self-study process by providing a method of validation of the level of subject matter knowledge gained from a course of such study.